THE "FIAT MONEY" HUMBUG

A BOOTHBAY CORRESPONDENT RIDDLES THE GREENBACK HERESIES

BOOTHBAY Oct 21 1878

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier

I inclose a verbatim copy of an article recently submitted to the Bangor Tribune, to which, without inserting the article replied to, that paper published the inclosed reply The article was as follows

BOOTHBAY Sept. 30, 1878

Mr Editor—Will you have the kindness to enlighten a humble student of finance? I have heretofore, in my ignorance, supposed that the Almighty above possessed creative power Gen. Butler however, tells us that Government may call money into being by a "fiat" precisely as light appeared in obedience to the "fiat lux" of the Great Architect Well, I should be delighted to be convinced of the truth of that proposition But willin' as Barkis is, I still have my difficulties. If I correctly understand the "National" financial philosophy it is not the promise to pay, but the full legal tender feature which is to be relied on to give value to a representative of value, and a—something issued by Government without such promise, but "receivable for all debts, dues and demands public and private," would be, though issued in quantities to "suit the demands of trade," "the best currency the world ever saw"

What I want to know, you know, is just this —Will the value of such a currency—one possessing all those requisites—be destroyed, or seriously impaired, by the addition of a promise to redeem in specie? Did not the assignat do not the currencies of Turkey, Hayti Buenos Ayres, possess all those requisites besides the promise? I know your paper does not dodge the issue but, boldly taking the bull by the horns, declares that the promise is the real cause of depreciation. It logically follows that Haytien money," now worth about four cents on the dollar, only wants a monosyllable to be worth its 'face" value. Make it a promise 'not to pay' and the thing is done! Can you "Nationals" look each other squarely in the face without "snickering?"

The editor fears that I cannot conceive the difference between intrinsic value and a representative of value" Perhaps not, but I can at least give him my idea. Intrinsic value resides in the article valued without reference to anything else A representative of value is that which, though itself valueless, promises value;—that through which we hope to obtain value, and the value we attach to that representative is not always measured by the value hoped for, but is, of course also affected (sometimes seriously) by the assurance (or want of it) of that hope. I believe my note for a hundred dollars would be valued somewhat by my neighbors so long as I have a little property and am regarded as passably honest. While I have property to be reached by legal process that note represents one hundred dollars worth of that property, when I have not, it represents my honor and ability to earn But what value will your "fiat" dollar (which is never to be redeemed) represent? According to old fogy notions a representative of value represented something due us The 'Absolute Money' can represent only what we owe. Come now, Mr. Tribune man, in what other sense can you call my "fiat" dollar a "representation of value"? After my taxes are paid what value does it represent? Again Mr Tribune, if that "fiat" is never to be redeemed by value paid by the Government issuing it, what matters it whether it be the fiat of a rich and powerful nation, or a "down trodden and oppressed heathen nation" so long as "that heathen nation", or its government, receives it for all dues, and could and would compel private creditors to do the same?

The Tribune wants me to 'inform us what the bonds of those countries were worth in gold (Turkey, Hayti and Buenos Ayres) when their currency was debased to twenty-five cents on the dollar" I don't know and, what's more I don't care I do know that Buenos Ayrean 'money" is now worth about two cents on the dollar and Haytien about four. Haytien is worth more, probably, because of the possibility of future annexation to the United States; (their money remembers Texas bonds) I presume their bonds are worth about the same, for both rest on the same basis: the world's estimate of the chances of their ultimate redemption. But why, according to the "National" theory, should the currency of those countries be debased because their bonds were? Weak as are those powers, are not their governments quite as able as our own to make their paper "receivable for all dues", etc., at home?

As the Tribune man is evidently "some" on history, I would like to refer him to Macaulay's History of England, Vol. 3, pages 69 and 70, where he will find an interesting account of King James the Second's experiment in the absolute money line. Perhaps, however, the trouble with the Irish money in 1689 was that, nearly worthless as it was, being coined from old brass kettles, worn out cannon, etc., it still possessed a little (less than two per cent. according to Macaulay) intrinsic value, and that was fatal to it!

A favorite subject of declamation with the "greenback" demagogues is the hardship to debtors of the decline in nominal values consequent on the restoration of our national credit. Well, they took their chances with their eyes open and contracted their liabilities in face of the obvious certainty that, if the Government dealt honestly by its creditors, the dollars they would have to pay would (practically) be more valuable than the dollars (or their equivalent) they received So constantly does the purchasing power of even the most stable currency, fluctuate, that the sum we have to pay is never the exact equitable equivalent of the sum borrowed. Creditors lose, of course, in the "long run," just as much and as often by these fluctuations, as debtors, and it would be the meanest kind of class legislation that should seek to protect either, at the expense of the other, against the chances which he voluntarily hazarded Human wisdom can do no more than reduce those chances to the minimum by the use of the most stable measure of values that can be devised; and mankind by common consent, from pre-historic ages to the present day, have fixed on gold and silver as that measure I believe it is falsely assumed that the debtor class are the poorer class I am fully satisfied that the bulk of private debt is owed by the wealthy or apparently wealthy; those who make the display of wealth and splash with mud from their carriage wheels their shabby and plodding creditors, who are generally either the really poor or the careful, self denying workers. But if it were otherwise I know of no code of ethics which justifies the cheating even of the rich The greenbackers forget how the creditor class suffered by the rapid (practical) scaling down of debts from 1862 to 65. But little has been said or thought of the hardship of compelling men who had loaned the price of thirty barrels of flour to accept in payment the price of ten. In the short space of three years, and substantially without warning, men saw their credits, sometimes the savings of a lifetime, practically dwindle to about one-third their original value The debtor class had fair warning when the war closed, and have since had near fourteen years in which to "hedge" An item of my own experience just occurs to me: In the summer of 1854 I was at work in the California mines, and having accumulated a certain quantity of the material of which "Shylock's money" is made—good honest gold, not 'cowardly gold;" dug with my ten fingers, and an aching back, from among the boulders in the Stanislaus river —sent it home My father loaned it on good security to a then, prosperous neighbor The principal of the note was not paid until the winter of 1864 and, of course in greenbacks But few murmured at those losses for they perceived that the legislation which caused them was the price of the Nation's life. And the enterprising debtor class, profiting by the result of that legislation, were accumulating fortunes with wonderful rapidity.

Blatant demagogues now rant about "class legislation," and almost in the same breath impudently avow their purpose to legislate, directly and professedly, in the interest of a class, and to re-commence the "scaling-down" process by the issue of unlimited irredeemable paper, which they tacitly admit will possess but small purchasing power As cutting off a dog's tail an inch at a time is not, after all, the most merciful way to do it, I suggest as by far the less pernicious way of robbing creditors that we make forest leaves legal tender Suppose, the better to facilitate payments, we enact that an oak leaf shall be a hundred dollars, an ash leaf ten, and a maple leaf one dollar, with plenty of other leaves for small change, down to a cent, for we want to be honest and pay the "bloated" wretches, who have committed the outrageous and oppressive offence of trusting us with their money or goods, to the last cent according to the "ccn"—law Call this exaggeration if you will, I honestly believe the object (and the only object intelligent greenbackers, not politicians have in view) would thus be attained with far less of mischief than by the "absolute money" dodge. By the one method we should at a stroke wipe all out and be ready to start anew By the fiat plan we would only prolong the agony, as it might take two or three months—months fraught with mischief—for the "fiat" to become utterly valueless

Now a word about the bonds A favorite topic with those demagogues is the "robber" legislation of 1869 whereby, as they allege, the original terms of the contract between the Government and the purchasers of the 5 20s were changed In construing this contract the creditor should certainly have the benefit of every doubt (if doubt there could be) for he is absolutely in the debtor's power The debtor makes the law and construes the law One of the parties to the suit is at the same time counsel, witness, judge and jury I believe it is a principle of law that contracts are to be construed according to the mutual understanding of the parties when they were made, if that understanding can be ascertained Story says, (I can give the substance though not the words) a contract is to be construed, not as the creditor party understood it, still less is it to be construed as the debtor party understood it, but as the debtor party knew the creditor understood it. Now there can be no question as to the mutual understanding of the parties in this case.

I cannot better illustrate than by another leaf from my own log book Near the close of the war I found myself the fortunate possessor of a small sum of money, (none of it saved from a private soldier's thirteen dollars a month) with a portion of which I bought a 5-20 bond. (Don't come for me, I beg, Mr Greenbacker, I haven't it now, no "bloat" about me now, nary bloat, belong to the sainted and down-trodden debtor class) I cannot say to what extent a desire to serve my country influenced my choice of an investment, but it was among my motives as certainly as it was my motive for enlisting. Though I do not set that act up as meritorious, I certainly could not have anticipated that the having loaned money to my country in its distress, would ever become a subject for reproach or, except among rebels, constitute me a public enemy for whom no epithet would be too vile Whatever my motives, however, I do not believe my patriotism would have been proof against the Butlerian construction of the contract I had never heard, nor do I believe any other purchaser had then heard, aught of such a construction. Had the demagogues commenced "barking at that hole" before the 5-20s were all sold, they would then have rendered necessary the explanatory legislation afterwards found expedient in 1869. If the idea had then been barely suggested to me, I should certainly have laughed at its absurdity, for a glance at the bond the only evidence of the contract, would have shown me an unqualified promise to pay. Will any idiot maintain that a Government, any more than an individual, can pay a debt and still owe it? Would the Government have paid me anything or owed me any less when it had given me a hundred dollar greenback for my hundred dollar bond? Come, Gen. Butler, go right at that fort, please, and not explode your powder-boat a mile off as usual. I also bought some 7-30s and some compound interest notes, and here again the conditions of the contract were plainly "nominated in the bond," so that I could not be deceived, for the promise to pay was qualified by an explanatory clause which forewarned me that the promise was to be taken in a Pickwickian sense; and meant only that the Government would, after a certain time, give me in exchange for that promise to pay, that is to pay in gold, such new promise, to be at my option (not Government's) one with interest, or one I might use as money The question at issue may fairly be stated thus:—We maintain that the word "pay" on a Government promise means pay unless qualified by an explanatory clause, they claim that, unless so qualified, it means give another promise

But what, after all, is the use in reasoning with men who do not themselves believe the propositions they defend; The "greenbackers" are not sincere, and several have confessed as much to me I do not believe there is an intelligent man in the land who, having given the subject any thought, believes in the feasibility of Butler's pretended scheme of finance I believe, moreover, that there are few intelligent "greenbackers" who would not be mortified to know that their more intelligent neighbors really thought they believed in it. Why, who would not rather be thought insincere than "a damphule." Yet Butler, Leo Miller, Chase, et als, will look you squarely in the face as they mouth their lunacies, and look as serious as though they believed that you believed that they believed their confounded nonsense. What wonderful control of the facial muscles men will acquire by long practice

The "National" party is composed of three distinct classes: First and noisiest, these "patriots" who, having long been desirous of serving their country, have at last reached the harrowing conviction that republics are ungrateful Next are those business men who, having started with little or nothing of their own, on the principle of "heads I win tails you lose" would like by means of the "absolute money" to obtain a perfect legal title to the property other men's earnings have paid for. It would be better than "compromising" at three per cent as it would "pay off" the mortgage and mechanic's lien as well as the wholesale merchant's bill Then there are third the —— well, the rest are sincere, but I do not know how numerous. ## IN A COAL MINE

A LETTER FROM ILLINOIS

MINONK COAL MINE, ILLINOIS,
Oct 15th 1878

Mr Editor, and Home friends

I hailed you last from above the clouds, giving the "tip top" of the morning, now I speak to you from the "bowels of the earth with greeting from "The nights plutonian shore" There I was "set up" to the extent of 6,000 feet. Now I am "in the ditch" 553 feet below the surface of the earth. "What a fall was there my countrymen!"

I have heard it was a fearful thing to be "buried alive." I don't find it so very bad I am not alone in the sepulcher. Here are strong hands and pleasant voices. On every side the smutty faces of the miners glow beneath the lamps on their caps, the light of their way. Near and far, dusky forms flit to and fro, their bare arms and breasts gleaming spectrally through the darkness

Our attendants are two rollicking song singing miner lads. Our chariot is a coal car bearing their sister and myself, and blithely they whirl us through the long dim labyrinths, over miles of underground railroad, singing as they go We rest at one of the outmost points, where my lassie's father and uncle, intelligent Scotch lowlanders are at work, bringing out of the blackness and darkness a hearth light for cottage and hall through the long winter storm and cold. I borrow their pick, and with my own hands (ungloved) I mine a mass of coal to take back to Maine. I fear though the quantity will not supply our domestic vulcan in the cellar for a very long season So here I sit—"My rest a stone,"—chatting with the miners, canny Scots, and their blithe lads and a bonny lassie "frae the banks o' Doon"—talking of all the secrets of this dark abyss. They tell how the mine caved once between the brothers and separated them for a night and a day. How the cages that run down the long shaft were wrecked and for a day and a night there was no egress from the pit We breathe fast and think quick—of a small white house in Maine—when they tell how, sometimes, there will come a crack, a sharp ring through the earth, and they who hear escape for their lives

They explain how the black vein is separated from the gray soap stone, how the "dusty diamonds" are wrought out——but —am I "called" to export solid science free gratis into New England?——My knowledge cost me a dizzy head, crawling in the skin and sickness to the —— somewhere in the region of the heart, while swooping down that endless "drop" as if into the bottomless pit. Shall I dispense learning bought at such a price for mere glory? as unsubstantial as the baseless fabric of a dream, and likely have my name "spelt wrong in the newspaper"—I just give out. There is a yankee woman in the deepest coal mine of the West, "taking notes" by the glimmer of a miners head light Still I will tell you my friends free of charge, that this is not a scientific expedition alone, but here in the very realms of Pluto, in these "caves inferno" we are holding, not the orgies of Bacchus, but a "red ribbon," meeting. Some of these stout covenanters have known too much of the "right gude willie waughter" embalmed by convivial Bobbie Burns, but on each grimy breast of this circle is now tied the bright pledge of reform.

While still I scrawl my coal sketches by the glow worm of these caves, the lads run out the loaded cars singing lowland ballads in broad Scotch and returning all join, lads, lassie and sire, and wake the echoes of the long low corridors, with the miners chorus:

"Down in a coal mine underneath the ground.
"Where no rays of sunshine ever can be found,
"Digging dusty diamonds all the season round"

"Down in a coal mine underneath the ground."

am yours, for darkness and light.

M. L. HOSKINS.

NEW MAGAZINES

WIDE AWAKE for November gives as one of its chief attractions the pathetic old story of The Babes in the Wood, versified by Mrs. Clara Doty Bates, and illustrated charmingly by Mary A. Lathbury. It is safe to say that none of the modern rhyme-stories will ever win the immortality that belongs to these Classics of Babyland. Another gem, with a beautiful illustration, is Margaret J. Preston's art poem of Giotto and his Sheep. Miss Plympton also has an amusing bit of illustrated verse, The Grown-up Clock. Mrs. L. C. Whiton and Howard Glyndon also have illustrated poems, Among the stories is an amusing one by the Editor, Ella Farman, entitled Betty's Tramps, accompanied by a frontispiece Laurie Loring has a good school-story, Down a Water-Spout. Topsy's Thanksgiving is a dainty little Thanksgiving story for the smaller children Mrs. Lillie's English Literature paper treats entertainingly of John Dryden and His Times. There is a bright instructive article by Mabel S Emery entitled In the Gas Works, and the Poet's Homes Series has a paper on Nora Perry. A very interesting paper in The Child Toilers of Boston Streets series about The Chestnut Roasters, and the usual Departments make up an excellent number $2 00 a year Ella Farman, Editor D Lothrop & Co. Boston Publishers

NEW PUBLICATIONS

We have just received the following new books, published by Roberts Bros , of Boston, and for sale by D Bugbee & Co

Under The Lilacs, by Louise M Alcott, is, like all her works, fresh, original, and interesting from beginning to end Everybody will be eager to follow the fortunes of the hero, Ben, with his dog, Sancho, from the time when, as the Infant Prodigy, he shone in the circus arena, until he became an honored member of society, will sympathize with his sorrows and joys, and when at length they close the book, will feel as if they had lost an old friend.

Modern Frenchmen, by Philip Gilbert Hamerton, will sustain the reputation which this brilliant writer bears It contains a series of biographical sketches of several of the most eminent French artists, authors and naturalists of the present age They are written in an easy, conversational style, and are well adapted to give both pleasure and profit

Stories from an Old Dutch Town, by Robert Lowell, is next on our list, it is a finely written and interesting book, though having a slightly mystical vein It affords some of the best pictures of the manners and customs of the old Dutch American towns, that we have ever seen

How to Parse, by E A Abbott, is a thoroughly practical and sensible text-book in grammar Written concisely, and at the same time not crowding the mind with facts but leaving it clear to see and grapple with the next difficulty, it is an invaluable aid to both teacher and scholar

We have received from S E. Cassino, Salem, Mass., the first volume of the American Natural History Series, called Ferns in their Homes and Ours, by John Robinson, a book which no botanist should be without, as it gives a perfect description of these lovely plants, from the rarest to the most common, together with their habits of growth and other interesting facts, the whole adorned with over twenty fine engravings illustrating the different varieties. Price $1 50 For sale by D Bugbee & Co

Well-Toned Systems.

Systems toned and renovated with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are most effectually defended from disease. That supreme invigorant soon overcomes that distressing feebleness consequent upon ailments which impoverish the blood and relax the muscles Vigor appetite, sleep return to the wasted frame, and every physical faculty gains greater activity through its benign influence Nor is this all, for the Bitters have a most genial and cheering effect upon the mind of the despondent invalid, which is the natural effect of the increased bodily vitality which they produce Nervous symptoms disappear in consequence of the use of this medicine, and the evil consequences sure to result from a premature decay of the physical energies are averted Dyspepsia, liver complaints, rheumatic ailments, urinary and uterine irregularities, malarial diseases, and many other disordered conditions of the system, are remedied by the Bitters.

"FLAUNTING THE BLOODY SHIRT."

There is little wonder that the Democratic organs believe in the potency of a ridiculing epithet, when Republican journals that have been prominent in the championship of equal rights in the past, flinch in truckling cowardice at a phrase, and plainly manifest their anxiety to escape its application. The most conspicuous of all the examples of that sort, is the New York Times, a paper which has been alternately the fiercest of radicals and the weakest of trimmers. It is probably true that the Times has for years past furnished more detailed and accurate information of the systematic lawlessness and outrage in the South than any other paper in the country. It has sent candid and reliable correspondents through the South, has printed their reports and has indorsed their truthfulness. At times it has uttered indignant protest against the infamies perpetrated against Republicans in the South, but its next issue would be quite as likely to contain a dog-in-the-manger snarl at all other journals that denounced the outrages and demanded some action to prevent them. The Times has seemed to act as if it claimed a monopoly of the right to complain of Southern bull-dozing, and if any one else has presumed to utter a word of protest the Times has immediately braced up on its conservative tack and flung out its taunts at "stalwart Republicanism" as glibly as the veriest Bourbon. For months there has hardly been an issue of the Times that has not contained the most palpable contradictions of sentiment on its editorial page concerning the Southern issue, and frequently it works all around the subject in the same article. As an illustration we note an editorial in the Times of Oct. 21 on "One Tendency of Southern Tactics." The article begins with a reference to the professions of gratitude by Southern men for the liberality of the North to the sufferers by Southern pestilence, and in referring to the feeling of the North toward the South it makes this taunting remark:

"It [the North] is tired of sectionalism in politics, as is proved by the scant encouragement given by Republicans to those of their party who are eager once more to flaunt the bloody shirt."

Now we want to ask the Times two questions. First, what constitutes "flaunting the bloody shirt?", and second, who are they that are eager to flaunt it? As the Times has adopted that Democratic scoffing phrase, it certainly ought to have some idea of what it means. The interpretation given by its Democratic inventors has been that to publish any account of the political massacres and outrages in the South, to utter any protest against the persecution of loyal citizens, to make any demand for the maintenance of equal rights in the South, was to "flaunt the bloody shirt." Under that definition we have certainly flaunted it, and the New York Times has as certainly done the same. We are not ashamed of it, but rather glory in having denounced the crimes against liberty and humanity. If the Times is ashamed of itself for having spoken to the same purpose, let it recant and repent for itself, and not make a mush of its doctrines by first sneering at the "bloody shirt" and then flaunting it in the same editorial.

The Times flings at those who it says, are "eager once more to flaunt the bloody shirt." Who are they? We have found in the duly accredited correspondence of the Times such circumstantial reports of the outrageous intimidation at the South that we have felt it our duty to lay them before our readers, and we confess that we have been eager in denouncing the barbarism that thus disgraces the American flag. Is that the eagerness the Times refers to? If so why does it repeat in the same editorial the characterization of that barbarism which no patriotic citizen could fail to denounce? If the statements it makes are true—and they are abundantly established—is it not the duty of every true Republican, every lover of liberty, every believer in the principles of popular government to do just what the Times characterizes as "flaunting the bloody shirt?" And if it is their duty, is not a Republican paper like the Times in pretty poor business when it picks up the contemptuous epithets of the bulldozers to fling at the advocates of equal rights? We can think of no more complete and fitting rebuke to the inconsistent carping of the Times at Republicans who say what they mean and stick to it, than is furnished in its own columns, in the following passages of the same editorial which begins with a sneer at the "bloody shirt":

[From the New York Times, Oct. 21.]

"The occurrences at Sumter in South Carolina and in Tensas Parish, Louisiana are in some respects worse than events that were familiar in the kuklux days. Then there was a pretense of secrecy. The perpetrators of crimes were rarely willing to proclaim their responsibility. Now the outrages are done in broad daylight, the perpetrators are socially influential and make no secret of their doings, and the white population of the neighborhood are so close in fellowship with the respectable ruffians whose guilt is notorious, or so much in dread of their vengeance, that they make no effort to protect the victims or to secure the punishment of their oppressors.

"For aught that appears to the contrary, the Sumter outrage is approved by the white South Carolinians, from Gov. Hampton down to "the trash" that glorify him. A more infamous affair cannot be imagined. It was an audacious piece of bull-dozing, and might easily have led to a massacre. But not a word has dropped from Gov. Hampton condemnatory of the proceeding and its authors. His assurance that the blacks shall be protected in the exercise of their rights is belied by the suppression of a Republican meeting. His declaration that the law shall be impartially administered, regardless of politics or color, is falsified by the immunity which the Democratic ruffians who planned and executed the affair enjoy. The law remains a dead letter, Governor and magistrates alike looking on while its provisions are violated. And the whites of the State utter no protest either against the great crime or the policy out of which it grew. With the best possible intentions toward South Carolina, as towards the whole South, the North finds itself the witness of a state of things that is incompatible with freedom, with humanity, or with that forgetfulness in regard to sectional politics which it desires to cultivate. The Tensas Parish occurrences are equally irritating and equally disgraceful to Gov. Nicholls and the Louisiana Democracy. The parish is overwhelmingly Republican, but a Republican convention is not allowed to meet. There is a recognized Republican vote of 2,500 against a registered Democratic vote of 300. The 300 nominate candidates and then call out troops to enforce an order forbidding the 2,500 to say who shall represent them. The house of a Republican leader is attacked, shots are fired, a life is lost, and the managers of the Democratic minority summon soldiers from other parishes, and even from Vicksburg, to insure the success of their plans. Gov. Nicholls, like Gov. Hampton, learns of the outrage and does nothing. His pledges are broken, and he looks on complacently. Not an arrest is made, nor is there an effort to insure to the 2,500 Republicans the safe exercise of undoubted rights. Louisiana's profession of gratitude for Northern benevolence would sound more sincere if it manifested some respect for Northern ideas of liberty and justice in its treatment of colored citizens. It is not pleasant to reflect that the hand which one day is extended for relief may the next day maim or kill a man whose only offense is that he is a Republican.

"Lawlessness is, in fact, apparent at every stage of the canvass as conducted by the Democracy in those States. The use of troops by partisan managers for partisan effect is so flagrantly unlawful that one wonders how Wade Hampton can allow his authority in the matter to be so insolently disregarded. On the occasion of the Sumter outrage the town was converted into a camp in defiance of the limitations which surround the calling out of the military. In Louisiana, again, troops were collected in Tensas Parish at the bidding of the Democratic leaders, who went so far as to summon military help from Mississippi without the intervention of the Governor. In each State the Governor has been virtually deposed by the violent Democrats, who keep him in office for appearance sake, while using the machinery of the State Government for the furtherance of partisan ends."

THE FRAUD COPARCENY.

AN AMBIGUOUS OBSERVATION.

[From the Cincinnati Enquirer, (Dem.)

Pelton, nephew Pelton, has not ambled into print as far as heard from. Uncle Sammy ought to write a card for his protege and thus let the entire family out of the scrape. No one would doubt his card any more than they have the old man's.

REFERRED TO PROFESSOR PERRY.

[From the New London Telegram (Rep.)

When we were at Williams College not so very many years ago, we never expected to live long enough to see Professor Perry defending such a barefaced fraud as that of the cipher despatches. Ex-President Hopkins ought to instruct the Professor in morals.

ADVERTISING AGENT LOCKE'S VIEW.

[From the Toledo Blade, (Rep.)

Mr Tilden went into the canvass personally, and attended to every detail with the zeal and energy that he displays in wrecking a railroad or stealing the books of a mining company. It was notorious that every move of the campaign—from the moment the first advertising notices of himself were sent out by Bates & Locke—was supervised by himself in person. This is what makes it impossible to believe that he was kept in ignorance of the cipher despatches.

AN OPENING FOR SUNSET COX.

[From the Baltimore Gazette, (Dem.)

The Hon. S. S. Cox has been enthusiastically renominated for Congress by the Democrats, Greenbackers, Laborites, Spiritualists, Second Adventists, Old Line Casino Players, Hard Shell Whigs, and Independent Hackriders of the Sixth New York District. If Mr. Cox is re-elected, and he certainly will be with this combination in his favor, we trust that he will at once push a bill through Congress making it a moral offence for a man to write telegraphic despatches in anything but the English language. Something must be done to purify and protect our telegraph system.

ANOTHER LINK IN THE CHAIN.

[From the Syracuse Journal (Rep.)

Mr Havemeyer's statement was intended not to throw any new light upon the cipher business. But it really does throw a flood of light upon it. It was within his power, in writing his statement, to have revealed for whom the ciphers were sent and received the "other persons" and "messengers" he spoke of. The parties publicly implicated are his own friends politically and personally, and had it been in his power to vindicate them, he certainly would have done so. His not giving them this assistance in their need of it, is as strong as a direct allegation of their complicity would be. And so Mr. Havemeyer's statement is really a link in the strong chain of evidence against Mr. Tilden in his stupendous fraud campaign in South Carolina and Florida.

"YOU'RE ANOTHER."

[From the N. Y. Tribune, (Rep.)

Mem. from an indignant country correspondent: "Have you seen the judicial suggestion of the Nation about the cipher despatches, that they are bad, but those which implicate the Republicans, and are probably worse, have been destroyed? That is like the boy who swore he saw the eclipse—because he looked out and saw nothin'."

A CALM REPUBLICAN VIEW.

[From the Albany Express, (Rep.)

If the Democratic party can afford to cling to Tilden after the recent disgraceful disclosures, Republicans can certainly afford to let it. Therefore it should be remembered that with the evidence before the country, and the coparceners contenting themselves with denials which are in good part confessions, the Democratic party has not within it enough of virtue and stamina to enable it to cast out the political jackals who of late have been trusted with its greatest interests. The cipher exposure is not a mere personal matter, and cannot become so, at least until the Democratic party, by some authoritative action, places the responsibility upon mere persons by destroying the representative capacity of those persons. This the party is not likely to do, and Republicans can well afford to rest content.

[From the N. Y. Tribune, (Rep.)

It should be distinctly understood that no Republican is impatient to have the Democrats throw Mr Tilden, coparceners and cipher operators overboard. On the contrary, every Republican who loves his party will rejoice in the inmost cockles of his heart to see the Democracy shoulder the whole Reform combination and start ahead in its progress to the bow-wows. By all means let Mr. Tilden be "vindicated."

The Tribune remarks: "The man who is not an ex-Confederate stands a poor chance for political honors in the South today. Nearly all the candidates for office are ex-Generals, or ex-Colonels, or ex-something else, and the preference for this class is carried even into the campaign speaking. Respectable Northern Democrats will be more scarce than ever in the next House. The South will send up more ex-Confederates than ever, and will have an easier time than ever in controlling the party. It is important to reflect solemnly upon what this control is sure to cost the country."

All the comment the Northern Democratic journals make upon the bulldozing canvass in South Carolina is the sneering one that the Republicans have started the old outrage mill again. All the Republicans have done is to charge a systematic plan of negro terrorizing upon Hampton and his party, and this charge is admitted to be true by the Hampton organs. The Northern Democrat runs, as usual, to toady to his Southern master.—Tribune.

And now, after the Tribune has pried the lid off the "Fraud" barrel, comes James E. Anderson, the swift witness on whose monumental lying the Democratic party have based their whole charge against Republicans, and knocks the bottom clean out of the Potter scandal mill. Anderson has told so many stories that one is as good as another except where facts corroborate, and the principal importance of his latest testimony as summarized in our telegraphic columns, is the demonstration of the falsehood of the whole fabric of arraignment on which the Potter Committee has tried to raise the banner of "Fraud."

Bound to Hear Blaine. When Senator Blaine spoke at Des Moines, Iowa, there was one man in the audience who meant to hear him, no matter what happened. Ismael Lee of Mitchellville, a heavy built man, well advanced in years, found it difficult to get a place near enough to hear the distinguished Senator, and while attempting to mount a dry goods box, fell in and broke his arm. He got up without a murmur and planted his feet on the box, held his broken arm for an hour and a half until Mr Blaine finished his speech, and then walked to a doctor's office and had the bone set.—Ex.

A Boothbay correspondent, in the article printed on our first page, pitches some of the solidest kind of chunks of common sense at the "Fiat Money Humbug," and we commend his sound logic to all who have been misled by fallacious doctrines.

The Machias Union hasn't even heard of the cipher despatches. Its "fraud" ear, on the side toward Gramercy Park, is plugged up.

The Commercial is already cautiously "hedging" on Tilden.

THAT BOGUS "SHERMAN LETTER"

Potter's Witness, Anderson, Declares the Charge a Fraud.

A JOB PUT UP BY THE POTTER COMMITTEE.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind, Oct. 25. The Herald contains an interview with James E. Anderson, now stopping here. Anderson clears up the mystery surrounding the Sherman letter, and exonerates Secretary Sherman from all complicity in the matter. He says the authorship of the Sherman letter lies between Senator Kellogg and Conquest Clark, who was his private secretary at the time, that Mrs. Jenks never saw it, that the original letter is in the possession of a gentleman in Philadelphia, and can be produced at any time. He says that Kellogg could exonerate Sherman and will do so as soon as the Louisiana appointments made in his interest are confirmed. The interview makes two and a half columns and embodies a racy history of Louisiana politics including some interesting facts not heretofore made public. Anderson says he was made the dupe of Sypher, his cousin, and compelled to go before the Potter Committee, that Sypher got a fee of $35,000 by pretending that he was Anderson's go-between

THE FIRST PAGE. Our readers will find a very clear and sensible article on the "Fiat Money Humbug" printed on our first page; also an interesting account of Mrs. Hoskins' visit to an Illinois coal mine, Religious Intelligence, State news and book notices.

A gentleman who came near breaking his neck by falling over a pile of coal on the sidewalk last evening, suggests that if people are determined to leave their coal on the sidewalk in the night, it would be well for them to place a light in the vicinity, so that pedestrians can find their way way around it.

The opening dance of the season at Music Hall next Monday evening, under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias promises to be a very pleasant occasion. The gentlemen having the management of the affair have been untiring in making the necessary arrangements, and as they have met with fine success in the sale of their tickets, it is expected that a pleasant party will assemble to enjoy the opening ball of the season.

THE CHINA TEA STORE. The proprietor of the China Tea Store realizing that the times are hard, and that every one desires to make a dollar go as far as possible, now steps to the front and presents a partial price list in another column, which the public should examine carefully His stock of groceries is complete in every particular, and all are invited to call at the China Tea Store and satisfy themselves that they can find a good bargain

A ROUGH PASSAGE The Press says "The steamer City of Richmond, Captain Kilby, which left Bangor Wednesday morning, put into Boothbay harbor at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, where she remained until noon Thursday when she left for Portland, safely arriving here at a quarter past three in the afternoon. Capt. Kilby says that the whole passage was about as rough a one as he ever had, and that it was so rough at Boothbay it was just as much as they could do to hold their anchorage with both anchors."

WELL POSTED The parties who broke into A. M. Campbell & Co.'s store on Wednesday night were evidently well posted in relation to matters about the store. Mr. C. informs us that it has been their custom to make a small package of the coppers every night and place it somewhere about the store, before locking up for the night. On Tuesday night this package was placed among some barrels, and Wednesday night the thieves moved the barrels in that locality, expecting that they would find the money there. Their store was broken open about six weeks ago and ten dollars in coppers taken.

TRIAL FOR SHOOTING A DOG. Yesterday considerable interest was manifested in Bucksport in the trial of a resident of that place for shooting a dog. It seems that one of the citizens of that town was the owner of a valuable dog which he kept about his grounds, and that the fellow referred to above, while out gunning on this gentleman's grounds, saw the dog, and as he had not been successful in securing any game and wishing to fire at something, he shot the animal The hearing was held in the Town Hall which was well filled, as as the citizens are quite indignant at such an act, but as yet we have not learned the result.

THE CHILD MURDERER. The Augusta Journal says "Mason Scribner, the man who murdered his children and attempted to take the life of his wife, is still confined in Kennebec jail, in this city He is as stoical and indifferent as ever, and, although closely observed, those about the jail can discover no indications of insanity. Ugliness is quite prominent, however. In the meantime his wife has been engaged in honorable employment as a domestic in a family in this city, earning money to support the children whom Scribner's murderous spade failed to reach on that fatal day. The trial of the miserable man will probably be held at the present term of the Supreme Judicial Court, about the middle of November"

A MYSTERIOUS DEATH. The Press says "The body of Mrs. Laura J. Whitman of Charlestown, Mass., was buried in Carthage in this State where her father Harrison Storer resides, on Wednesday of last week It was given out that her death was the result of inhaling arsenic, which she had used for the purpose of destroying water bugs. There are now strong grounds to suppose that Mrs. Whitman was murdered by a Dr. Spears, a homœpathic physician, and her own daughter, Mabel. The motive which prompted the deed does not seem to be clear. Mrs. Whitman however was possessed of $20,000 which would fall to Mabel on her mother's death and the latter was in love with Dr. Spears who was poor. The suspicion is therefore that they together concocted the scheme to procure funds to enable them to be married. Arsenic was found in Mrs. Whitman's stomach and it is conclusively proved that Mable purchased a large quantity just before her mother died."

AN OLD GAME. One of our citizens while on a visit to New York recently, was made the victim of one of those old games which the sharpers have been practicing for some years. He was walking along one of the streets, when a nice looking old gentleman rushed up to him and said "How do you do Mr. Jones, how are all the folks in Cincinnati?", Considerably surprised at being thus addressed, the gentleman replied "You are mistaken sir, my name is Mr. ——, and I belong in Bangor instead of Cincinnati." The old gentleman apologized for his mistake and passed on. Our friend had not proceeded far before he met a nice looking young man who, after looking at him for a moment said: "Why! how do you do Mr. ——? How are all the folks at Bangor and how is my uncle Mr. B?" Very glad to find a nephew of one of his fellow citizens, Mr. —— entered into conversation with the young man and they soon found themselves in one of the numerous dens in New York, where there are lottery tickets and various other things with which to fleece strangers. Mr. —— claims that he got away without losing any money; but says that the next time he visits New York, he shall be more cautious about telling strangers his name and place of residence.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

OCTOBER (CIVIL) TERM.

HON JOHN A. PETERS, Justice Presiding.
JAMES H. BURGESS, Clerk
RUFI SMITH, Stenographer.

Friday, Oct. 25.

John Brown vs. Levi B. Patten Parties reside in Bangor The facts admitted are these Plaintiff was walking down Park street in this city. Defendant had been delivering goods in that vicinity that day, and while he was carrying the goods to the house from his wagon, his horse became frightened and ran away and against the plaintiff, throwing plaintiff down and severely injuring him. Defendant paid the physician's bills and for nursing and for some other things. Plaintiff brings his action to recover for damages sustained by him. Defendant says he was in the exercise of common and ordinary care and has done all that it was his duty to do. Verdict for plaintiff for $150.

Barker, Vose & Barker. Varney.

Daniel W Ames and als vs. Allen Merrill. Plaintiffs are merchants, wholesale dealers, in Portland. Defendant Deputy Sheriff in Dexter. Plaintiff sold goods to one Jones of Dexter, and says he was induced to do so by the representatives that he (Jones) was solvent. Subsequently, plaintiff says he had a suspicion that Jones was insolvent, and being in Dexter, he arranged with Jones to rescind the contract of sale and Jones delivered the goods. It seems that while the goods were being removed, defendant attached them on a writ in favor of other parties and plaintiffs bringing their action to recover the value of the goods so attached Defendant says title was not in plaintiffs at time action was commenced, and that contract was never rescinded. Verdict for plaintiff for $74 96

A CHINESE AMERICAN SENSATION

Maine Parties Interested in Remarkable Cross-Litigation in Bridgeport, Connecticut

The N. Y. World of Wednesday publishes a somewhat sensational despatch from Bridgeport, Conn., purporting to give account of proceedings there in which Maine parties are concerned. We preface the despatch by stating that the Mr Hill mentioned is a former resident of Maine who has acquired a large fortune in China, and has for some years been largely engaged in the construction of public works in that country During our visit to Washington last winter we met Mr. Hill, who had come from China on public business with our Government, and were introduced to him by Capt. Henry H. McGilvery, of Belfast, who has been many years engaged as a shipmaster in the China trade, and who has had a long acquaintance with Mr. Hill's family. We believe Capt. McGilvery took Mr. Hill to China in his ship, and that he brought the family back to this country when Mrs Hill came over to have her boy boy complete his education. Mr. Hill entertained a very strong regard for Captain M and had intrusted him with many important business matters in this country, so that it was natural that he should desire him to act as mediator in his family difficulties. We had no knowledge of any domestic infelicity, and do not now know how much the newspaper account has been colored; but all who know Capt. M will believe that his connection with the matter has been in every way honorable, and that in attempting to settle a domestic quarrel he has met the treatment so often accorded to family mediators. The World's report is as follows:—

BRIDGEPORT, October 21. On the eleventh day of last March Mrs. Elizabeth Adams Hill, formerly of Hong Kong, China, filed in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court for Fairfield County a petition for a divorce from her husband, Charles E Hill, a merchant of Hong Kong and a native of Belfast, Maine. Mrs. Hill was an American lady, who about eighteen years ago, at the age of eighteen, went to Hong Kong to marry him. She came of a wealthy family and was accomplished and attractive. She has relatives still living in Syracuse, N. Y. Six or seven years ago she returned from China, bringing her only child, a boy of about sixteen, who is being educated in the Bridgeport schools. Mr. Hill is wealthy and kept her supplied with funds. She had an income from property owned by Mr. Hill in Maine and elsewhere amounting to about $300 per month and she travelled much, stopping at the best hotels and making a wide circle of acquaintances. When her petition for a divorce was filed, the ground being adultery, Mr. Hill was duly notified. He has occupied a prominent position in social and commercial circles, and was naturally much averse to having any scandal made public in connection with his name. He accordingly wrote to Mrs. Hill, making her an offer of $75,000 in money, in addition to the $3,600 per annum previously mentioned, and an interest in certain realty of value, as a consideration for quiet and privacy in the divorcement proceedings. On this point several letters were interchanged, but no agreement was reached, and the failure to agree led to the filing of new papers in a very unexpected way. These latter proceedings have given the entire history a publicity which it would not otherwise have had.

On the fifth day of the present month, M. D. Wilber, of Bridgeport, counsel for one Captain McGilvery, of Belfast, Me., drew up a complaint against Mrs. Hill for assault and battery on Captain McGilvery, averring therein that the said Mrs. Hill had assaulted the said McGilvery with a porcelain or other pitcher, causing injuries, &c, and placing the damages at $10,000. On the same day the counsel for Mrs. Hill, Messrs A. S Treat and Henry S. Sanford of Bridgeport, filed a counter suit for assault and battery against Captain McGilvery, asserting that he had struck Mrs. Hill in the Stirling House, and the damages in this case were placed at $10 000. On the same day Mrs. Hill instituted another suit for $15,000 in a slander case, averring that Captain McGilvery had uttered certain libellous remarks which were detrimental to her character. First, Mrs Hill was arrested, but bonds were furnished by Atwood & Whiting, the proprietors of the Stirling House, wherein it was alleged the various assaults occurred and of which Mrs. Hill was and is a guest. The proceedings caused no less a sensation in the business portions of the city than in the favored locality known as Ford's Hill. The apparent connection of Captain McGilvery with Mr. and Mrs. Hill was not clear and was not generally understood, but in an interview Mr. Wilber, Captain McGilvery's counsel, explained this point, and told a story which is not devoid of interest. He said that Mr Hill is now on board a steamer bound from China to Peru, and is empowered by China to make a commercial treaty between the two countries. When he wrote, his references were the highest, including officials of prominence in Washington and elsewhere. Captain McGilvery was his friend and agent, and it was at Mr Hill's solicitation that he called on Mrs Hill at the Stirling House. When Mr. Hill offered to give Mrs. Hill $75,000 and the other considerations named to secure her silence concerning their domestic trouble and her intentions, Mrs. Hill answered that her terms were $100,000 cash, the other conditions to be fulfilled as proposed. Before any such agreement could be effected, however, Mr. Hill learned that his wife had already given to the affair more publicity than he desired, and so wrote to Captain McGilvery to go again to the Sterling House and offer Mrs. Hill $25,000 as a final settlement. Captain McGilvery accordingly went to her room, Mr. Atwood, one of the Stirling House proprietors, accompanying him as a witness. The business having been announced some bitter words were exchanged. Mrs. Hill, according to Capt. McGilvery's story, becoming indignant at a suggestion by him that bad counsels had cost her $50,000 seized a porcelain ice-pitcher which stood on a table and approaching Captain McGilvery, who was seated on a low sofa, struck him on the head with such violence, at the same time seizing him by the hair, as to cut through the scalp to the skull—She then struck him again with the pitcher, which had been fractured by the previous blow, on the right hand, inflicting further serious injuries He seized her by the wrists, saying that he should not injure her or allow her to injure him further—Her story is that he assaulted her. The arrests on the three suits mentioned followed with little delay and were merely formal. Captain McGilvery, however, escaped being locked up for lack of a bondsman only by the courtesy of the officer in the slander case, as it was Saturday night and he was a comparative stranger to the moneyed men of Bridgeport He had many acquaintances among New York capitalists, however, as was evinced by a score of telegrams, some of them signed by millionaires, which came to the office of his counsel the following Monday.

With all this litigation duly entered upon there is a promise of much more to follow. Mr Hill will enter a counter-suit for divorce upon charges against his wife similar to those made by her against him—Captain McGilvery will bring a suit for libel, claiming that Mrs Hill has written libellous letters to his family and friends in Belfast, and Mrs Hill according to her counsel, will bring still another suit against the captain In the three cases already instituted it is expected that the trial will be reached at the November term of the Superior Court. Messrs. Treat and Sanford desire a committee hearing, while Mr. Wilber desires that the cases be heard before a jury. Mr. Wilber says that Mr. Hill has now decided to fight it out to the end, and it is possible he may come home after his voyage to Peru to attend to it. Each of the three litigants has a very large number of acquaintances and prominent connections, and as a consequence Consuls and Congressmen may be expected to be before the Court as witnesses, spectators and friends of the parties involved.

THE QUESTION OF PROFITS.

"What is the profit and what the risk" are the first considerations in every business transaction. Messrs. Lawrence & Co, Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y City, make large profits monthly for their customers, by the New Combination System of operating in stocks at the N. Y Stock Exchange. By this system they mass together various sums from thousands of customers and with the aggregate become giants in the street, placing their patrons on an equality with the kings of finance, whether the amount invested be great or small. $15 pays $75, or 5 per cent on the stock during 30 days. $75 pays $455, or 6 per cent., $200 pays $2,000, or 10 per cent, and so on, according to the market. Messrs Lawrence & Co.'s circular (copyrighted and sent free) contains "Two unerring rules for success in stock operations," and explains everything. The Brooklyn Journal, April 29, says "Messrs. Lawrence & Co. have many facilities by which their customers secure advantages not otherwise obtainable. Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 on an investment of $20 in their combinations" The standing and responsibility of Messrs. Lawrence & Co- is unquestioned, and they furnish best of references. Highest market prices paid for all kinds of Stocks and Bonds and new Government Loan supplied.

"Oh, the little beauty! how pretty she did look after nurse had arranged her curls" with the beautiful WAX FLOSS Hair dressing. Prepared only by Caswell & Co., of Boston; proprietors of Caswell & Co.'s SLIPPERY ELM LOZENGES, for Coughs, and Caswell's "NEW" ELIXIR, for the Blood. For sale by all druggists.

TO THE CONSUMPTIVE. Let those who languish under the fatal severity of our climate through any pulmonary complaint, or even those who are in decided Consumption, by no means despair. There is a safe and sure remedy at hand, and one easily tried. "Wilbor's Compound of Cod Liver Oil and Lime," without possessing the very nauseating flavor of the Oil as heretofore used, is endowed by the Phosphate of Lime with a healing property which renders the Oil doubly efficacious. Remarkable testimonials of its efficacy shown to those who desire to see them. Sold by A. B. WILBOR, Chemist, Boston, and all druggists. oct21eod1w

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. june10 deow6m

FINE TEAS.

PRICES REDUCED.

PLEASE READ THIS.

IT WILL PAY YOU!

It is a well known fact that there has been more poor Teas sold in Maine than in any other State Indeed it is well known to wholesale dealers in Boston and New York that they invariably say in speaking of Tea too poor for any other market "Have [illegible] any trade in Maine?" [illegible] the Teas are good enough for them

The reason for the demoralized state of our Tea trade in this State are First the consumers in their mistaken idea of economy have continually called for low priced Teas and secondly the dealer in order to meet this demand and also to compete with and undersell his neighbors has been forced to keep a few of these poor goods But we are pleased to say that a large majority of consumers have learned and more are learning that POOR TEAS are the most extravagant goods to use being very unhealthy almost [illegible] very low priced Teas are damaged Very few of the retail grocers are judges of Tea They have so many articles to buy that they pay little or no attention to their selection They intend to and no doubt they do sell the best Teas but they have to depend wholly upon the wholesale grocer to select for them and he in turn [illegible]

20 Years Experience In This Business,

part of that time being connected with some of the largest Tea Coffee and Spice firms in Boston and having always paid special attention to the selection of Teas. With this experience and a natural taste for the business we certainly should be a good judge of Tea and we never buy a Tea without first testing it thoroughly so you can rely on always getting the same grade of goods at the same price of us. Knowing that there are a great many persons in this vicinity who appreciate FINE TEAS we determined to have some EXTRA FINE and after carefully searching the New York market we can truly say we have some of the Finest Teas ever Offered for Sale in Bangor

They are the very highest grade of GARDEN TEAS so called for the reason that they are grown in small cultivated gardens and not in fields like other Teas They are the first picking of the young tender spring leaf and were picked April of this year and have more body and fragrance than [illegible] at any time [illegible]

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat,

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever Measles and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact or thick and yellowish emitting a foul odor or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion the surfaces being dry [illegible] face front and upper part of the head [illegible] as if it was encircled [illegible]. This latter phase is call[ed] Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause [illegible] to swell and become thickened [illegible] through the nose difficult or impossible [illegible] is it necessary to breath [illegible] cold air [illegible] directly [illegible] desire to hawk [illegible] but when the [illegible] is dry [illegible] feverish instead of spitting freely [illegible] and throat become [illegible] incrustations, and hard [illegible] to the nasal passages [illegible] very persistent efforts to dislodge [illegible] in sympathy become inflamed, red [illegible] watery or in the morning the lids may [illegible] and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes [illegible] matter be [illegible] violent [illegible] ending, frequently in inflammation ulceration, and finally deaf [illegible] lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh [illegible] prostration of [illegible] system is superinduced such as [illegible].

FOOT SALVE,

The Sure Cure for Corns and Infallible Remedy for Bunions, Sore and Inflamed Joints and Chilblains.

This Salve is the result of years of study and experiments by a distinguished Chiropodist, and we feel confident, in offering it to the public, that it will meet the wants of thousands of people that are afflicted with these most troublesome of diseases—Corns, Bunions, and Sore Joints—as every person so suffering can be cured by using this Salve. It has an advantage over other preparations of a like nature in the market, that it does not burn the corn out, but it softens the flesh around it, and so separates it that it can be removed without pain or bleeding. Persons using this Salve will find it will work as follows:

After applying the Salve three or four times a ring will appear around the corn, which indicates that it has become separated from the true flesh and it can now be easily removed, or after another application it will fall of itself. For a Bunion, Sore or Inflamed Joint one application will almost entirely remove the inflammation, and if persisted in will surely cure.

This Salve will not cure a soft corn, but will remove the inflammation and keep the foot in a comfortable condition.

To my Patrons and Friends in Bangor and Vicinity—Greeting.

For many years I have used 'VULCANITE RUBBER' as a BASE for artificial teeth. But there is mercury in this plate and many who wear teeth prepared in this way, have suffered severely with canker in the mouth. But for more than three years I have used a new patent—the 'CELLULOID' BASE, with the greatest satisfaction. This plate is entirely free from everything that can produce soreness to the mouth. My patients are delighted with it, and the more I use it the better I like. Those who suffer from the use of RUBBER can come and have a new set of teeth made upon 'Celluloid' for a very small sum.

All dental work that comes to me, I will do in the best possible manner and at the lowest terms. Yours truly,

(TRADE MARK.)

COALINE

Has no equal for cleaning Paint, Graining, Window Glass, Marble, Gold Frames, Pianos, Sewing Machines, Oil Cloths, Silver Ware, &c., without soap or water. Removes Ink Stains, and Grease of any kind from White Cotton and Linen Fabrics, and from Carpets and Woolen Goods of fast color. Reduced one half with water makes a harmless and fine shampoo for the head. It will remove dirt and stains from the hands leaving them soft, smooth and white. House kept clean a year for twenty five cents.

What Ladies say who are using Coaline.

"I would not keep house without it."

"Although cheaper than soap, I should use it if it cost twice as much, it leaves my hands in such a nice condition."

"Worth more than you ask for it just to take off the pencil marks my children will make on the walls."

"Have never been able to keep my mirrors satisfactorily clean until I used Coaline, as other ways of cleaning injure the frames."

"It is wonderful for cleaning fly spots from walls and window sashes."

The highest testimony from the multitudes who are using it.

Labor saving cleaning done in one fourth of the time. No slopping on Carpets or Furniture and without the slightest injury to the most delicate surface. Once used it will never be abandoned.

We ask from every fair minded, economical person an impartial trial of Coaline. It can be obtained of Grocers by the pint, quart or gallon at the rate of 10 cents per quart, making it cheaper than soap.

DIRECTIONS.—Take a clean sponge and wet slightly with the 'Coaline,' thoroughly moisten (not wash) the surface to be cleaned, then wipe first with a damp then with a clean dry cotton cloth, changing the cloths as often as soiled, and the work is completed. Wash the sponge after cleaning paint before cleaning glass.

For Graining, Glass and all polished or delicate surfaces, reduce one half with water, a sponge should never be used on mirrors or piano cases, a piece of soft flannel being the proper thing.

Follow the directions. Ask your Grocer for it.
